A True Green Business

Established in 1989

Don't be fooled! How to spot Green Wash. What is a real Green Business?

Many businesses see green issues, not as worthwhile and important activities in themselves but a marketing opportunity that can grow profits.

"I have always been a strong advocate on getting return on investment and I can't see any point in being green for green's sake."

Green Office Dealer of the Year 2010

A recent Corporate Social Responsibility survey named British American Tobacco, Shell, Nestle and Xstrata Mining in the top ten performing companies. Jonathon Porritt called the inclusion of BAT a sick joke.

Certified Sick

To be a real green business all the activities of a company should respect the environment and operate ethically.

At the Green Stationery Company we strive to have the lowest environmental impact possible and make all our activities socially and ethically sound. We publish information on everything we do through the "Profit Through Ethics" scheme.
