

VISILUME

Vision in process

Seeing Solutions

Observing processes under pressure and vacuum in vessels, tanks, reactors, filters and other plant and pipelines requires effective illumination and a clear unobstructed view.

VISILUME works with established internationally known suppliers dedicated to the lighting and viewing of process operations. We offer a comprehensive range of engineered solutions using proven, safe methods and products.

Familiar with the whole spectrum of applications found in process and related industries, our experienced engineers offer the best solutions to suit your needs.

METAGLAS

Applications VISILUME in ACTION

For over 25 years Lumiglas has set the standard in process observation offering a full range of stainless steel vessel fittings and luminaires for both hazardous and non-hazardous areas.

Metaglas safety sightglasses are ideal for applications where glass damage must be avoided, such as in the food and chemical industries. Crevice free Metaglas sight glasses and sight-flow indicators meet the increasingly demanding specifications of the pharmaceutical and biotechnology industries.

LJ Star sight flow indicators offer ease of maintenance and safety for process applications with more demanding operating conditions such as those found in the chemical industry. Vaihinger level indicators have applications in the power generation, chemical and other process industries.

With a wide range of products at their disposal and a wealth of expertise and experience, VISILUME's engineers can provide practical and cost effective solutions to suit all of your process observation requirements.
