

Fuel Tanks

Priden engineering offers a complete range of aluminium, stainless steel or mild steel fuel tanks to suit all manufacturers of chassis. All tanks are built in accordance to EU regulations and can either be supplied or fitted at our premises.

Aluminium tanks are built to order and are usually available one week from order receipt. All tanks are built to customers specific requirements with further services offering repair or conversions to existing customers tanks.

Please contact one of our experienced sales team with your enquiry or check out our gallery to see examples of conversions that have been undertaken.

