

Rotary Packing Tables

Priden Rotary Tables are manufactured from stainless steel with a 'Delrin' working surface suitable for use in any environment within the food industry. They are particularly used in situations for the collation and accumulation of products ensuring your pickers and packers are not starved of product.

