Company Profile

Air that moves the world

We are aware of the value of our commitment.

Since 1964 camozzi works in the pneumatic automation field, designing and making increasingly advanced systems and components that use air as the basic carrier for transmission of motion.

Over the years the passion and enterprising ability of the company's founders, the Camozzi brothers, has allowed the business to rise to prominence in its field and it now provides services all over the world.

We are still oriented toward maximising benefits for customers, with a modern managerial structure continuing a tradition based on solid values.

Our international vocation means an ability to be present all over the world with the same basic philosophy: being wherever our customers' products are.

This is the only way to be an essential partner for customers who need not only reliable components in line with the regulations and standards in effect in different countries, but true international partners who will come to their aid quickly and effectively wherever they're needed.

The key to this ability lies not only in our worldwide support service but in our decentralised international management.

This is why Camozzi has Business Development people in every sector whose know-how goes beyond the strictly commercial sphere to include specific technical skills, offering a mixture of know-how that allows them to help people make the best choices, coming up with customised solutions which are efficient and save on costs.

Every one of our customers is different and at Camozzi we need to know exactly why.

If air holds still secrets, we'll soon discover them, to offer you even more solutions beyond the thousands already in the range of our offer. And whilst our quality and reliability are unvarying, other aspects are constantly changing, in search of new levels of performance, always in respect of international standards, to offer a service up to the requests of a market in constant evolution. New product areas are increasingly developing, especially those in which electronics are integrated with pneumatic technology, offering new functions which make our products and systems always more "intelligent" and effective.

Key skills for doing one's best

Developing skills to guide our future.

The pressure of competition on the market continues to grow. Developing our skills is the key to the ongoing change that will determine our future. It's not enough to focus on the customer: we need to keep on looking in the mirror as well, to identify areas requiring professional and human growth, so as to make us stand out from the others. All together and as individuals, we make the most of our ideas and develop them in the form of concrete action, in a spirit of collaboration, with efficiency and determination. We have changed over the years, acquiring awareness and confidence in our own abilities, and we will continue to change, like a living body that carries on growing and improving.
