

We are delighted to announce Delta Membrane Systems Limited was awarded an ASUC Award for “Special Achievement” for their Women of Waterproofing initiative on Friday 23 November 2018.

ASUC (Association of Specialist Underpinning Contractors) is an independent trade association originally formed by several leading contractors to promote professional and technical competence within the subsidence industry.

Members include a comprehensive range of specialist domestic services in: subsidence repair and underpinning, retrofit basement construction and engineered foundation solutions.

Kevin Dodds and Paul Green of Delta Membrane Systems Limited had the pleasure of attending the ASUC yearly AGM and Awards ceremony held at 1 Moorgate Place, London EC2, with guest speaker, Paul Sinha (from ITV's quiz show 'The Chase') entertaining guests.

We were absolutely delighted and surprised to be recognised and named as winners for our Women of Waterproofing initiative. Yet another great achievement for Delta Membrane Systems Limited!

This is the second award Delta Membrane Systems Limited has won this year, having won a PCA (Property Care Association) 'Special Award for Initiative' in June.

Delta was also named as finalists in five categories spread over the Construction News Specialists Awards, Ground Engineering Awards and London Construction Awards in 2018.

Christopher Burbridge, Managing Director said “We are truly honoured to be receiving such an important award. Winning this award would not have been possible without the inspiration of the Delta Team.

especially Georgia, Rachel, Danielle, Daisy, Megan, Natalie, Maria, Theresa, Joanne and Alex for whom I have the deepest respect. #TeamDelta, you can proudly hold up this award as a mark of your achievements. The construction sector and very much the waterproofing industry remains male-dominated and women's growing roles as decision-makers is yet to be reflected, we hope that Women of Waterproofing can encourage and retain other females in the industry".

David J Symes and Kevin Dodds concluded "Congratulations #TeamDelta, we are incredibly proud of your efforts. 2018 has been an amazing year for Delta, we've invested in our staff along with technologies which continue to lead the field in innovations (within the waterproofing sector), winning this award, highlights your dedication to Delta - Thank you".
