LIGHT UP YOUR WORLD

Whether you are seeking a quiet living room in which to relax, a much needed study, a light-filled dining space or simply a room from which to enjoy the garden, David Salisbury can turn your dreams into a reality.

Your David Salisbury Orangery or Garden Room will be a delightful and sympathetic addition to the character and style of your home. Our passion is to build beautifully designed, meticulously crafted structures which are a joy to own and an inspiration to live in.

A stunning addition to this customer's home, whilst making a statement in style, this contemporary orangery kitchen extension in Maidenhead, Berkshire hits all the right notes. Acting as a kitchen, dining area and living room in a well-designed, open plan format.

Responding to the brief to bring a taste of the beautiful outside to the inside of this Listed Building in Bath, this painted garden room blended seamlessly with our client's existing home.

A FIRST CLASS PRODUCT AND SERVICE

With ample room for formal dining, as well as a lounge area, this impressive extension to a busy family home gives relaxed views of the gardens. By providing the perfect transition between outside and in, this roomy structure is in constant use.

This project perfectly encapsulates the feeling of traditional design with a modern twist, the result is a real feel of the here and now. The gorgeous tones of this oak orangery are perfectly offset by the contemporary grey painted, timber bi-fold doors and windows.

A PERFECT BLEND

This award-winning painted orangery design complements the client's period brick property, allowing them to feel closer to their beautiful garden and providing views of the river and nearby abbey.

A TIMELESS BLEND OF CRAFTSMANSHIP & TECHNOLOGY

I made my first conservatory at the request of a local builder. At the time, I had a small workshop making furniture but was immediately captivated by the challenge of designing and manufacturing these structures. There are many problems to solve: for the customer, aesthetics, durability, maintenance and security are vital, while for the manufacturer, the challenge is how to streamline production of what can be a geometrically complex structure.

Building conservatories has been my passion now for over 30 years and the company currently employs more than 160 people. When you buy from us you are sharing in a wealth of experience that combines the best of traditional joinery with modern manufacturing techniques.

I am sure that if you entrust us with your Orangery or Conservatory, you will not be disappointed. I hope you will visit us and I look forward to meeting you.

David Salisbury

A free-standing orangery that echoes the garden's extensive stone works makes the perfect addition. Its unpretentious, naturalistic design is sensitively in keeping with the existing outbuildings and surrounding woodland.

A TRIUMPH
LOVED BY EVERYONE

With a brief to create a "larger living room," this beautiful painted orangery has definitely created a 'room for living'. Adding in more natural light and opening up the gardens, the outside is now easily accessible, and provides that feeling of indoor/outdoor living that really only comes with an extension like an orangery or garden room.

This 'Mansard Roof' oak garden room is by no means the grandest, but it is one of the most beautiful oak buildings we have completed. It is perfectly proportioned for the setting and provides a natural link into the garden, as though it has always been there.

A NATURAL LINK TO THE GARDEN

MAKING THE MOST OF MAGNIFICENT VIEWS

Making the most of the surrounding countryside and magnificent views was the essence of this design. Its sympathetic form opens up the cottage kitchen into a beautiful living room, which is now enjoyed by the whole family.

TRANSFORMS THE WAY WE LIVE

The term 'Garden Room' is used to describe a glazed extension with a tiled roof. This example with exposed roof beams has the advantage of being 'in the garden', while retaining the feel of a traditional living room.

MAKING YOUR VISION A REALITY

The design of every David Salisbury Orangery or Conservatory is unique to you, with no two structures ever the same. Our approach to creating these beautiful living spaces puts you at the centre. Before anything else, we must first understand the way you live and your vision for your home.

The surrounding landscape and your individual situation are particularly important to consider. For instance, does your home have extensive views to be embraced or significant architectural details to be respected?

Only by fully understanding these aspects can our designers create stunning new living spaces to delight and harmonise with your lifestyle.

This contemporary orangery design is another beautiful example of our work blending seamlessly with the existing home. The triple lantern roofs provide an abundance of natural light throughout this orangery which, alongside the client's impeccable taste in modern interiors, has created a stunning new living space.

With ample room for formal dining, as well as relaxed lounging, this impressive extension to a busy family home gives panoramic views of the gardens, as well as overlooking the pool. By providing the perfect transition between outside and in, this roomy structure is in constant use throughout the year.

This attractive oak orangery is a perfect fit to the original cottage. The internal oak beams really add extra character to the home, whilst the free-standing wood burning stove was added to give the room a focal point.

This generously sized orangery was designed to create a light living room with a fireplace, to be used as a casual family room all year round. It incorporates traditional vertical sliding sash windows, providing fully flexible ventilation options.

WE ARE ALL DELIGHTED

A CONSERVATORY...

Conservatory or Orangery? We are often asked to explain the difference. Above is a conservatory, containing more glass in the roof area with feature gables.

...OR AN ORANGERY?

This is an orangery. The hallmark is a perimeter flat roof area with one or more lantern roofs. This often works well where a larger extension is required and height is limited.

BEAUTIFULLY MADE TO LAST

We use the very best traditional and modern production techniques to create our beautiful yet highly functional structures. Technical innovation enables us to manufacture all timber components to extraordinary levels of accuracy and precision.

Added to this is our automated painting process, which produces a finished product with an attractive yet highly durable finish. All elements are painstakingly hand finished and meticulously checked to ensure that each Orangery or Conservatory has both the materials and build quality you should be expecting.

ENRICHING YOUR LIFE

A well designed swimming pool enclosure can be spectacular. We have the experience to create a beautiful setting for your pool and one that is able to adapt to the high humidity present in this environment. Here the pool building successfully adjoins the house, encouraging enjoyment all year round.

AN ELEGANT SPACE TO ENJOY

"As well as providing an excellent product, David Salisbury's service was exemplary and they worked closely with us, as the architects, at every stage of the project to achieve the best design solution and the highest quality for our client."

Client's Architect

This conservatory enables a profusion of natural light into the home. This design sits perfectly with the style of the house and provides a relaxed environment that our clients use all year round.

This oak orangery with full height windows and bi-fold doors provided exactly the new living space this client was looking for. The bespoke timber extension has transformed this home and become the favourite room for eating or relaxing.

The addition of a David Salisbury orangery has delighted the owners by bringing sunshine into the home. It has opened up the ground floor to create a beautiful sunny dining area, with open plan access to the kitchen.

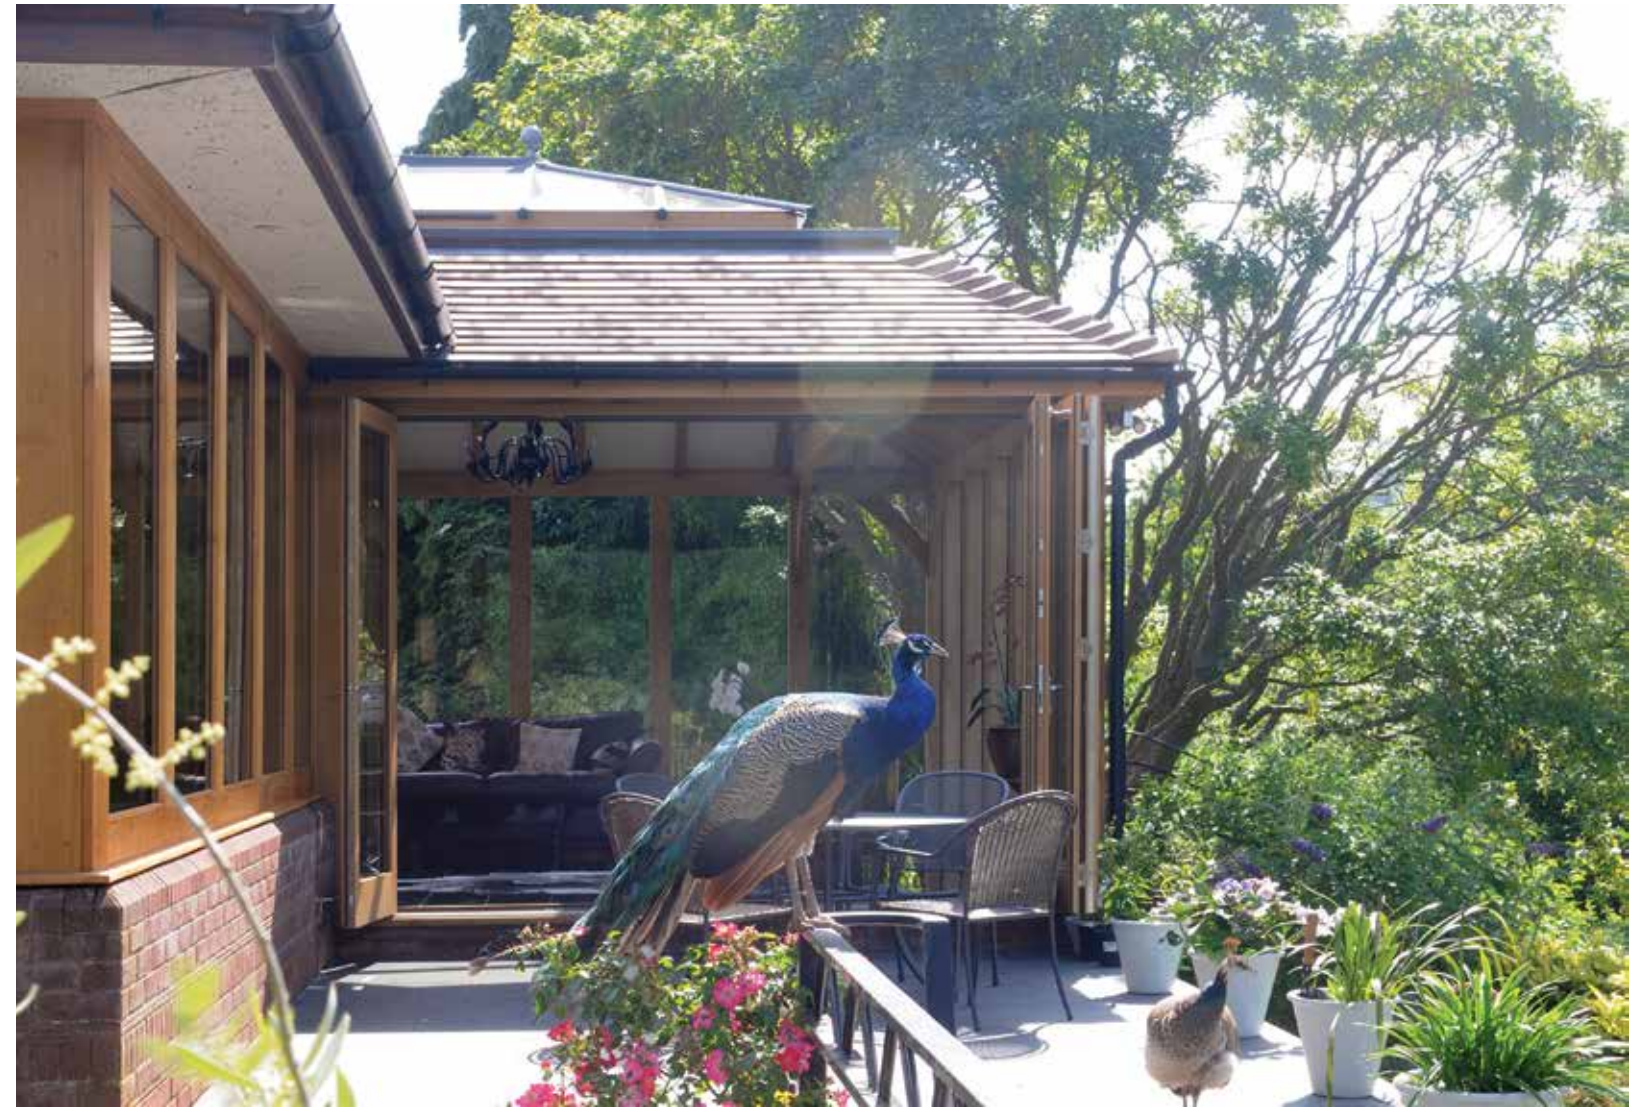

A FIRST CLASS SERVICE AT ALL TIMES

We understand that commissioning a bespoke Orangery or Garden Room involves a significant financial and emotional investment, and we fully appreciate the trust you will be placing in us.

Right from the start we will look after you. From your first contact with one of our exceptional designers through to installation under the watchful eye of your project manager, we aim to make the whole process an unqualified success.

The character of the impressive main house is complemented by the curved-glass domes which command admiration without detracting from the property's impressive historic character. The three light, spacious rooms created (only one shown) provide a variety of living areas and inspiring views of the lake and grounds.

This oak orangery contains two sets of three leaf bi-fold doors which allows smooth transitions between the rooms and the garden, giving a lovely free-flow feel to the living space.

EXCEEDED OUR EXPECTATIONS

Our conservatories are extremely versatile and there is no distinct 'David Salisbury Look'. With a wide range of detailing there will always be a solution to a design brief.

This substantial oak orangery sits perfectly at the back of the house, as if it has always been there. It creates a spacious, bright living space and open-plan kitchen for all to enjoy.

The slate tiles of this oak garden room blend harmoniously with the traditional thatched roof of the cottage, creating a delightful dining area in perfect keeping with the garden and surroundings.

BI-FOLD DOORS BRING THE OUTSIDE IN

This well designed orangery makes the most of the magnificent views and the surrounding countryside. The spacious and light-filled living room is now enjoyed by the whole family.

This traditional orangery design is relatively rare today but is quintessentially what orangeries are all about. On the back of this Grade II Listed Building, it has large vertical sliding sash windows set into solid walls with a flat roof and a glass lantern – it works perfectly in harmony with the existing property.

THE BEST OF BOTH WORLDS

This double orangery extension in the midst of the beautiful rolling Devon countryside provided plenty of space for both living and dining – the best of both worlds. Combined with the windows all around, the result is a lovely light and open plan space to enjoy, whatever the occasion or time of year, with stunning panoramic views.

This rustic oak garden room fits neatly into a corner of this lovely country house. The new extension, with its locally sourced stone, blends in perfectly to take full advantage of the beautiful surroundings.

THE FINEST QUALITY OAK

WORKING FOR YOUR BUSINESS

We have extensive experience working on commercial projects, including office reception areas, private clubs, pubs, restaurants and hotels. The benefit of using a conservatory or orangery to create a new commercial space with high visual impact can be substantial.

Our expertise has been employed by a range of businesses to add additional space to improve facilities and increase profitability in ways that could not otherwise have been achieved. We work closely with architects, specifiers and developers to deliver high quality traditional and contemporary wooden structures that are both functional and visually stunning.

A HISTORY OF PRESTIGIOUS PROJECTS

David Salisbury's Commercial division has undertaken a number of prestigious projects over the years but none perhaps with quite such a profile as the Cliveden Spa timber windows and doors refurbishment at the National Trust owned Cliveden House. Our hi-tech, highly automated factory has a proven track record of precision engineering - in outputting high quality timber windows and doors with millimetre accuracy each and every time.

A FAITHFUL REPRODUCTION

The National Trust commissioned us to recreate a Victorian conservatory which had been lost many years ago and replaced by a 1970s building. We have sensitively recreated the central section and prepared for the restoration of a wing each side at some time in the future.
