DESCRIPTION

A capillary fire valve is a legal requirement for fuel burners. Make sure you fit the best available by choosing FuelStop TFV.

Unlike other fire valves, the Fuelstop TFV conforms to British safety standards and it is also more reliable, making the perfect choice for installers and customers. You want the best fire valve available – the one that guarantees more safety, flexibility and reliability with less hassle.

The Fuelstop has a fluid filled capillary and bellows means that it is more responsive (than other air filled capillary and bellows on the market). We can therefore set the trip mechanism with more tolerance (this does not have to be set on a hair trigger), which results in zero nuisance tripping and within a tighter trip range. In fact it is the only fire valve we know of that is approved to British Standard BS 799 part 5.
