

Aertek Triclone vs Mitsubishi Jet Towel

|                          |  |                        |
|--------------------------|--|------------------------|
| 7 Years                  | Warranty   | 7 Years                |
| 3.9                      | Green Rating                                     | 4.3                    |
| 10                       | Drying Timeseconds                           | 15                     |
| 70                       | Noise LeveldB                                | 56                     |
| 1760                     | PowerWatts                                   | 550-1240               |
| 220-240 V 50/60Hz        | Voltage  | 220-240 V 50/60Hz      |
| IP21                     | IP Rating  | IPX4                   |
| 211                      | Air Speedmph                                 | 237                    |
| HEPA 13                  | Air Filtration                                   | None                   |
| Microban                 | Antimicrobial Coating                            | Silver Ion             |
| 300                      | Widthmm                                      | 300                    |
| 617                      | Heightmm                                     | 670                    |
| 195                      | Projectionmm                                 | 219                    |
| 828-975                  | Install Heightmm from floor to top           | 905-925                |
| 670                      | Cable Entry pointmm from floor female height | 638                    |
| NickelWhiteBlack | Finishes available                               | GreyWhiteBlack |