

Weathered track built in to the floor to give a low threshold between the inner and outer levels while maintaining an effective weather barrier

SF55 Sliding Folding Doors — Chorley, Lancashire

The clients have a young family and wanted to increase the size of the kitchen to form a large family room and have all the benefits of natural light flooding the room whilst being able to open the back of the house.

We recommended the SF55 thermally broken aluminium sliding folding door system which is perfectly suited to this size 3 panel door. The client chose a dual colour system which is a dark brown RAL colour to match the windows in the rest of the house and white on the inside. The client also wanted to be able to walk straight out without any step between the inner and outer levels.

The overall result is very effective with fantastic views of the open country side to the rear of the property. They can now open up the back of the room to let the outdoors into their living space.

The owner commented that -

“The two boys have said that the doors are very strong and they have had lots of experience by running into them while playing football in the garden or kicking the football at them”.

The client has recommended Merlin to friends and we are now quoting for other projects as a result.
